Motion Regarding Fair Tuition and Fees Charges

Whereas, the University of Toronto was found to be charging its students at least seven ancillary fees in violation of the Ontario regulations regarding tuition;<sup>1,2</sup>

Whereas, many McGill courses often include fees that are not clear before taking the class;

Resolved, that the SSMU conduct a thorough review of all tuition and fees charged in all faculties or schools to which its members belong, along with additional fees charged in individual classes, to ensure that all charges comply with regulations internal to the University and with the laws and regulations of Quebec and Canada and to ensure that all charges are made known to students when registering for classes. A report documenting these findings shall be made public by March 1, 2014.

Resolved, that the Vice-President (University Affairs) and the student Senators use Senate, Senate committees and informal channels to lobby McGill to formally review their fees if deemed necessary
