SSAP Meeting:

Following were the discussion questions that framed the premise of our conversation:

Discussed the GPA system at McGill: Is the “A” grade range (85%- 100%) too high at McGill? Should we have an “A+” grade that will acknowledge students who get above 90% or 95%? What about the corresponding GPA to the letter grades- any problems?

Policy on supporting documents: should we standardize notes? Should students or staff pay an additional fee to external doctors to make them fill out the McGill “standardized note” for supporting documents? etc.

No concrete solutions to any of these problems were made. If anyone has any suggestions or comments to any of the aforementioned issues, please feel free to e-mail me.
