

Funding Applications

11/3

5221 - Fashion Business Uncovered

This application was for the Fashion Business Uncovered event, which highlights the connections between the fashion and business world, and takes on a new focal point each year. This year the focus is on fashion of the future, taking into account sustainability and digital innovation. The partial approval reflects the amount requested minus the cost of an in-person social, as the committee did not feel this was a good use of SSMU funding given the current context.

5225 - Jam for Justice

This application was for microphone equipment and gifts for musicians performing in a series of live Instagram experiences, entitled Instajam. The microphone will be given to whoever is performing in a given week, then moved and disinfected to whomever is performing next.

5214 - Bioengineering Undergraduate Students' Society

This application was for a conference being run by BUSS, entitled the Canadian University Bioengineering Conference. The conference gives students the opportunity to connect and network with business professionals and learn about new opportunities in the Bioengineering fields. It is being launched in conjunction with UBC. The partial approval reflects the actual event deficit.
